Net gearing: 178%, 25%, 15%
Equity ratio: 47%, 15%
Near-term business risks

- The most significant near-term business risks are related to the general economic development, government regulations and financial crisis in the Euro area as well as to market demand in certain market segments.
- Raw material prices, energy cost and other cost increases may continue to put pressure on profitability.
- Currency rate changes, price competition and alternative competing materials may also have a negative effect on the result.
- The availability and cost of financing may continue to have an effect on the demand and increase the risk of credit losses.
Outlook for 2014

- The Company has reinforced the organization to work on sales development as well as on operational efficiency and productivity improvement. The market has stabilized but remains challenging. The Company will monitor the general market development and react with additional measures if needed. Uncertainties relating to general growth prospects in the economy continue, however some positive signs can be seen especially in laminate and demanding carbon tubes market. The Company is well-positioned to grow profitably when the markets recover.
Focus on increasing sales from existing and new customers

- We will further reinforce our platform for sustainable profitable growth
- We will monitor the general market development and react with additional measures if needed
- In 2014 our focus will be on increasing sales from existing and new customers
- We will continue to develop the operations in terms of operational efficiency and productivity improvement
- Existing processes will be refined and harmonized in ExelWay-project
- Exel Composites is well-positioned to grow profitably when the markets recover
